EIGHT HUNDRED PERISH IN GULF OF QUEBEC WHEN LINER SINKS IN COLLISION WITH COLLIER.

Steamer Empress of Ireland With Passenger List of Over Twelve Hundred Goes Down in Ten Minutes at Mouth of St. Lawrence River and But Three Hundred and Fifty Lives Are Known to Have Been Saved.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

QUEBEC, May 29. — Eight hundred lives were lost when the Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Empress of Ireland sank after colliding with the collier, thirty miles off Father Point at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

Details of the disaster have not yet reached Quebec, but are expected momentarily as 350 survivors from the Empress of Ireland have been landed.

The rescues were made by the Canadian government steamer Eureka and the mail tender Lady Evelyn, which set out in response to wireless appeals from the Empress of Ireland. Before the rescue boats reached the scene of the collision the Empress of Ireland's wireless became silent. She had gone down and whose lives were saved are believed to have been picked up from lifeboats. The Storstad, which carries a crew of forty-seven men, is said also to have been crippled by the impact with the liner. Her condition is not known, but she is thought to be still afloat.

The first word of the catastrophe reached land when the Father Point wireless station picked up the frantic "S. O. S." signals of the Empress of Ireland. Her location was given and the rescue boats put out with their engines strained to the utmost limit of steam pressure. The liner's wireless gave warning that there was not a minute to be lost.

Out of the early morning, as the government steamer and the mail tender churned their way to the point where the wreck occurred, the frantic calls of the doomed liner kept up, but for only a little while. Before long the operator at Father Point was unable to get any response at all from the steamer.

This was followed by more than an hour of intense suspense ashore. Something of the truth was realized after sunrise. With glasses it was realized after sunrise. With glasses it was possible to make out the rescue boats. Around them could be seen a small fleet of lifeboats, filled with people.

The great bulk of the Empress of Ireland was nowhere on the horizon. She had been for some time at the bottom, and with her were the bodies of 800 human beings.

The Empress of Ireland was probably the fastest transatlantic liner plying between Canadian ports and Liverpool. She established a record in 1906, three years after her launching, when she made the voyage from Quebec to Liverpool in five days and ten hours.

At the time of her fatal crash with the collier, she was bound for Liverpool with her 1200 souls, a heavy mail and a valuable cargo. Her crew numbered about 400. The passengers were divided as follows: First class, 77; second class, 206; third class, 504. Lieut. Kendal of the Royal Naval Reserves was in command.

MUTINEERS REPULSED IN ATTACK ON HUERTA'S HOUSE IN MEXICO CITY.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

VERA CRUZ, May 28.—Rumors of an attack on President Huerta's home in a suburb of the capital by mutinous soldiers were current in Mexico City, according to the refugees who reached here today.

The Presidential guard is said to have repulsed the mutineers with a heavy loss and that those not killed or wounded were imprisoned.

Two high army officers are said to have led the mutineers. Both of them were reported to have been killed.

The refugees say that the mutiny occurred last Saturday, but no mention of it was made in the newspapers. They added that the big funeral of those killed, which was held Tuesday, also passed off without being referred to in the newspapers.

These reports are given little credence here as anything resembling confirmation is lacking.

John R. Silliman, Vice-Consul at Saltillo, who arrived here several days ago after having been released from prison, will sail for the States tomorrow.

NEXT CAPITAL MEXICO CITY LATEST BOAST OF VILLA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ALTILLO (Mex.) May 28.—The vanguard of officials of the Constitutional cabinet and secretaries arrived today in preparation of establishing the capital here. Gen. Carranza is expected to arrive in four or five days and join Villa.

It was given out at the Villa headquarters that the Constitutional capital will experience but one more change—when it is transferred to Mexico City. No headquarters will be established in San Luis Potosi, Guadalupe or other towns en route as has been the case in North Mexico. Carranza is especially elated to make Saltillo his capital as he was formerly Governor of the State of Coahuila and will be among old friends and scenes.

Four hundred head of cattle have reached here from outlying farms brought in by the troops to relieve the famine. Trains from Torreon are bringing in supplies of food and ammunition while border points have received orders to rush cattle and horses. Before the importation of all horses, cattle and sheep to the United States has been forbidden by the Constitutional authorities temporarily owing to the great demand here.

More stores opened today and the city has taken on a normal aspect for the first time within two months. Five carloads of ties, spikes and other material were sent today to points along the railroad to Monterey. A gang of 500 men are attempting to get it repaired for service in a week.

Villa, despite his belief he will capture Mexico City without firing hardly a shot en route, says the United States is unfair in the matter of shipment of arms and ammunition. It is known that the Constitutionalists have sent a large force to Manzanillo and Salina Cruz to intercept the shipment of arms and ammunition said to have been bought in Japan by Huerta.

Villa is determined to prevent this

VILLA INCENSED THREATENS TO EXPEL JAPANESE AND GERMANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO (Mex.) May 28.—The landing of arms and ammunition by German steamships at Puerto Mexico has so incensed Villa that the rebel chief is seriously thinking of expelling every German from Constitutional territory.

Further threats are being made toward the Japanese, for Japan has been making shipments of arms freely to Huerta.

The situation on the part of Villa was discussed over the wire between the general at Saltillo and Carranza at Durango.

It has long been known that Villa's anger has been deeply kindled against the residents of both nations in Mexico, and that long Carranza to do the same by the Germans and Japanese he did toward the Spaniards whom he maltreated of their land and cattle, whose shops he rifled, whose haciendas he seized and numbers of whom he drove penniless out of the territory and the rebels control.

It is freely predicted here tonight that the Constitutionalists will prepare representations that will promptly be made to Huerta and Japan in which it will be flatly stated that further shipment of materials of war to the enemy will be considered as a dishonorable act, and that it will be followed by expulsion.

Germany's commercial interests in Northern Mexico are large. One of the most important wholesale establishments in Chihuahua, Durango and Saltillo belong to German citizens. One firm owns eight wholesale warehouses. The number of German living in this territory is not large, about three hundred. Carranza is estimated to be about five hundred Japanese in rebel territory. Most of them in Sonora and Sinaloa, on the Pacific Coast.

When action is taken against them, it was pointed out, it would not be an expulsion, but their property would also be seized.

The United States is counted on to be on the side of the Constitutionalists if the deportation of the Germans and Japanese is ordered, since their shipments of arms to Huerta is in antagonism to United States policy to oust the Mexican pretender.

Ferrule.

HUERTA NOW IN POSITION TO DEFY PRESIDENT WILSON.

BY GEORGE ADDISON HUGHES.

AMERICAN CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Gen. Huerta, armed with material and strength, as the result of the capture of the city of Mexico, will not resign. He is said to have promised the Constitutionalists here, ex-pressing confidence and belief that the landing of Washington would be the achievement of the Constitutionalists.

Twenty-eight hours more passed, and Huerta would have been in a position to fulfill his part of the promise and an anti-climax would have been reached. The Constitutionalists would have been forced to accept the situation as it was, and the Constitutionalists would have been forced to accept the situation as it was.

VINDICATED BY CURTISS.

"Langley's Folly"
Made to Fly.

Scientist "Laughed to Death"
Enshrined as the Pioneer of Aviation.

First Heavier-Than-Air Machine
Built on Correct
Principles.

Error of Launching by Means of Catapult Blamed for Past Failures.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
ELMHURST, N. Y., May 28.—The theory of Dr. Samuel Pierpont Langley, who proclaimed to the world he had solved the problem of the air several years before the heavier-than-air machine, had been vindicated at Hammondsport today when Glenn Curtiss, the aviator, went aloft in "Langley's Folly."

The crude flying machine, which fell into the Potomac River when Dr. Langley, its inventor, attempted to fly in it and which later was consigned to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, had every requisite for flight and remained in the air long enough to demonstrate the practical mind of its maker, who had been ridiculed by his incredulous contemporaries. The relic was wheeled from its hanger early this morning, the pilot immediately climbed into the seat and was away under much the same conditions as would prevail in a flight of the latest model aeroplane.

The flight was short, but successful. The Langley machine, but little resembling the trim and powerful flyers of today, but in its crude state it combined the basic principles of aviation, and after many years of neglect the "old junk" came into its own, giving its aged inventor his deserved place among the recognized pioneers of aviation.

But for an untimely accident, and what was termed the "misadventure of the government," Langley would undoubtedly have won fame during his lifetime. Instead he died brokenhearted after devoting twenty years to the study of aviation and years later others repeated the same error of which he should have had a share.

Langley made the one fatal error of trying to catapult the flyer into the air, with the aid of powerful springs, but he only succeeded in wrecking the machine. Had he tried the method pursued today of running the machine along the ground and allowing it to rise gradually in the air, there is little doubt he would have made the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

The antiquated machine was sent to Hammondsport about two months ago. Scarcely a change was made in its parts. The surface of the wings, which had suffered from long exposure, were replaced. Other minor parts repaired were duplicates of the original. The machine was driven today by the old motor built by Charles Manly.

Dr. Langley was the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He was satisfied of the feasibility of flight in heavier-than-air machines and spent years in working on the problem. In 1896 he was successful in making a steam-driven model fly a distance of about a mile over the Potomac River. Prof. Langley began his experiments with flying machines in 1887 and completed his first aeroplane in 1893—a miniature machine, steam-driven, with two sets of monoplane and developing one and one-quarter horsepower. The first successful flight was made May 6, 1896, at Quantico, on the Potomac River, lasting 1 minute and 30 seconds, and covering 1600 feet. This flight was the first in the world's history of a heavier-than-air machine, propelled by its own power.

In 1901 Prof. Langley completed a man-carrying, gasoline-engine machine with a five-cylinder engine developing fifty-two horse power and weighing, with its operator, 850 pounds. Two flights were attempted, one on October 7, and the other on December 1, 1901, but owing to inefficient launching, both failed. The machine was then placed in the Smithsonian Institution and it was this machine that was successfully used by Curtiss today.

SEVEN DROWNED IN TEXAS FLOOD.

DOZEN RAGING RIVERS MENACE
THE LOWLANDS.

Damage to Southern and Southwestern Parts of the State Very Great—Big Stretches of Railroad Track Washed Out—Two Soldiers Die in a "Dry Creek."

(BY NIGHT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
FORT WORTH, May 28.—Within seven days, thousands of feet of railroad track washed out and many people driven from their homes in the lowlands of Texas, the flood situation today was more serious than it has been at any time since last December. A dozen rivers in the State are on a rampage. Property loss in South and Southwest Texas is immense. People in the Brazos Valley have been ordered to safety. Mexicans at Brownsville and elsewhere along the Rio Grande have been forced out by the flood water of that stream.

The swollen Nolan River near Cleburne took the life of Knox Dismukes, a 14-year-old boy, late Wednesday. Prairie Dog Creek, the headwaters of Red River in Mail county, took the lives of Fred and Earl Brooks, two boys, while a "dry creek" at Dona, in Hidalgo County became a maddened torrent and caused two United States soldiers to drown.

This is in addition to the death of a fireman and engineer in a freight train wreck on the Katy near Smithville Wednesday morning.

Alfonso Madero Ran Over.
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
EAST ORANGE, N. J., May 28.—Alfonso Madero, 3-year-old son of Emilio Madero, a brother of the late President of Mexico, was run over by an ice wagon and seriously injured today.

Among the passengers was a large company of members of the International Conference of the Army at London.

A dense fog covered the Gulf of St. Lawrence at the time of the collision. The point where the disaster occurred is slightly less than 200 miles from Quebec, from which port the Empress of Ireland sailed last yesterday afternoon.

On account of the hour at which the vessels came together—3:30 o'clock in the morning—only those actually engaged in the navigation and operation of the steamers were awake. The others were in their berths, asleep.

Evidently the collision ripped open a great hole in the liner and there was but scant time for the launching and manning of life boats. The confusion aboard the vessel must have been of the wildest, as the passengers were shaken out of their slumber into the immediate contact with the gravest peril. Probably a large majority of those who were saved were clad only in their night attire, possibly with clothing in their hands, hastily seized as they fled to the deck.

The fog lifted shortly after sunrise, and it was that which enabled those who were aboard the vessel to see the scene of the disaster and the fact that the worst had happened to the Empress of Ireland.

The marine department at Father Point is of the opinion that the steamer sank about a quarter of an hour after she was struck—that is, if her calls for aid were heeded at the collision occurred. They were kept up only about that long, a fact which makes the rescue of 389 of the 1200 aboard the vessel seem almost miraculous. The wonder is that the loss of life was not almost total.

The Eureka and the Lady Evelyn have put in with the survivors at Rimouski, from which point they will probably be brought to Quebec. Arms being made to care for them on that supposition.

It is stated that the rescue steamer, before putting into shore, steamed all about the scene of the wreck and swept the waters with their glasses. It is felt to be almost a certainty that the 350 brought to land are the only persons aboard the Empress of Ireland who escaped. That would bring the total of unaccounted for to something over 800.

The marine department of the Canadian government has an acting agent at Father Point. That acting agent is directing the movement of the Eureka and the Lady Evelyn for the time being. He reports himself satisfied that every possible rescue was made by the two vessels.

They were at Father Point at the time of the wreck and had only thirty miles to cover, but the awful rapidity with which the Empress of Ireland filled and went down made the fact of their close proximity of but little avail.

Those who were rescued at all were already in lifeboats, riding in a calm sea, and were in comparatively good luck. The Empress of Ireland was a twin screw passenger steamer of 8028 tons burden, was 548 feet long and of modern equipment, carrying not only wireless telegraph signaling apparatus. She was built in 1906 and was therefore three years old when she was wrecked. Her speed was 16 knots per hour. She was on her way from Quebec to Liverpool.

She had been plying in the service of her owners, the Canadian Pacific Railway, between St. John and Quebec and Liverpool, and especially during the summer months, carried large numbers of passengers. Her speed and furnishings made her one of the most popular of the trans-Atlantic liners sailing from Canada ports.

The steamer Storstad, Capt. Andersen, is a vessel of 3561 tons register, built for the Canadian Pacific, carrying 7000 tons deadweight. She has been engaged for some time carrying coal between Sydney, Quebec and Liverpool. She would have a crew of about forty-eight men. She was due to arrive in Quebec about noon today.

WOULD AVOID ARBITRATION.

Ontario's Supreme Justice on

A Way to World Peace Is Suggested at Mohonk.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
CHICAGO, May 28.—"Courts were made for men, not men for courts," Justice William Riddell of the Supreme Court of Ontario, Can., asserted today in an address to the convention of the Illinois Bar Association.

"A court is an evil and the less it is called into play the better for the community," was one of the statements of the Canadian jurist. "The recognized means of settling disputes and whenever arbitration is preferred to a court decision it is a disgrace in most instances to the courts," asserted the justice.

"International arbitration is also a thing to be avoided except as a last resort to prevent war," Justice Riddell added. He also hoped the Panama Canal dispute between this country and England would never come to the stage of being arbitrated.

FOR WORLD PEACE. A WAY SUGGESTED.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 28.—A joint address by Dr. John Bates Clark, professor of political economy at Columbia University, and Sir George Paish, editor of the London Statist, was read by Dr. Clark at the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration today. They had asked to prevent the taking of any practical step in the direction of universal peace.

They proposed a standing committee of the powers, to call the attention of the world to the question whether conferences of foreign ministers or their representatives should be held to consider the regular procedure of governments.

The need for this, they said, "exists independently of warfare. The nations have become interdependent, where formerly they sought to be self-contained, both politically and economically. They live by serving each other."

The interdependence was most noticeable in the exchange of clothing and food and capital.

PACIFICATION IS ABOUT DUE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 28.—Plans for the pacification of Mexico through mediation virtually have been completed.

The major issues are now before President Wilson and Gen. Huerta for approval. When this is obtained secondary questions will be taken up for determination. A protocol covering the basic principles will be signed, the mediation conference will be held, and the delegates will return home and the mediators will complete the work of the conference in conjunction with the authorities at Washington and Mexico City.

Those who sell before the firing squad were Gen. Munoz, a nephew of ex-President Porfirio Diaz, Gen. Arson and nine colonels.

Reports of these executions at first were denied, but now are well established. The men shot, it was said, reiterated their loyalty to the Huerta government, and rather than violate their oath of allegiance to it gave their lives. Also twelve members of a Federal military band were shot, although this was done by Constitutional soldiers without sanction of their officers. As if to show that no harm had been meant the soldiers, after a stop had been put to the carnage, the remaining seven members of the band were asked to give a concert, a request which was met promptly.

Later, at Hipolito, the seven remaining musicians were sent to fraternize with the very men who had killed their comrades. This was the only instance in which enlisted men were executed.

Gen. Alvarez, one of the Federal commanders, met his death in an unusual manner. After defeat had become certain he managed to crawl to a water tank of the train. A soldier who had pursued him, was shot and severely wounded by the Federal officer. Two hand grenades were thrown into the tank, ending his life. Another Federal officer, Col. Ernestino Hernandez, shot himself through the head.

As a Constitutional officer remarked, the Federal officers all "died clean," they having bathed at Angulo, a watering place a few miles north of Paradero, Gen. Guardiola, though wounded, escaped.

Those Federal officers who were wounded were taken in charge by Villa's hospital corps and still are alive. Among them is a lieutenant-colonel, several majors and captains, of rank, that in the past, had not been spared.

OUTLINE WAR NEWS MAP OF MEXICO.

RETROSPECT OF YESTERDAY'S LEADING EVENTS.

(See corresponding numbers on face of the map. The notes explaining the figures are corrected daily, in order to state the facts and show the changes from day to day.)

1. Americans' extreme advance 10 miles from Vera Cruz. 2. Extreme outposts of Mexicans three miles from Vera Cruz. 3. United States regulars stationed at border points. 4. Rebels marching on Guadalajara. 5. Fighting at Mazatlan. 6. Federals at Guaymas defeated in sortie. 7. Demonstrations in Mexico City over landing of arms for Huerta. 8. Zaragoza's forces escaping rebel pursuit. 9. Rebels to locate capital at Saltillo.

It is reported that the mediators at Niagara Falls have agreed on a tentative protocol which may be signed this week. Funston is mentioned as a possible provisional head for the Mexican government pending a settlement. It is said at Vera Cruz Huerta may decide to fight now that he has succeeded in getting a consignment of arms and ammunition.

MOHENO FAVORS NEW TAX BILL.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
MEXICO CITY, May 28.—The Minister of Commerce and Industry, Querido Moheno, appeared before the Chamber of Deputies today and recommended the approval of a bill imposing a tax of 15 per cent. on net earnings in the case of future concessions granted for the exploitation of oil fields. The companies operating at present will pay the existing tax.

Gen. Manuel Velasco Velazquez, who went to Japan to inspect the arms being manufactured for the Mexican government, returned tonight.

on many months ago which offered money to officers if they would join the revolution. In connection with this offer, the revolutionaries telegraphed that General Diaz, after capturing Tepic, had executed only Federal officers and in some, sparing the 400 men of the garrison.

Unconfirmed reports said that General Diaz, former rebel leader, was now acting as a commander of regular Federal troops, was moving toward Ojinaga, on the Texas border, which is defended by a small force of revolutionaries. Ojinaga was the scene of the battle of Saltillo with a few hundred men. His entrance into the city would place him in a country with which he is most familiar, and where he has some following.

POPE CONFERS BENEDICTIONS.

Many Americans Attend Public Consistory at Vatican, Where Pius X Bestows Cardinals' Rings.

ROME, May 28.—The public consistory at the Vatican, at which the red hat was conferred on those now in Rome for the thirteen new cardinals created on Monday, was held today and was attended by several thousand persons, most of whom were Americans and other foreigners.

A special mass will be held tomorrow at the Vatican, at which the benedictions will be conferred on the new cardinals, as was done in the case of Cardinal Gibbons.

The ceremony attracted much attention outside the Vatican, the public watching the departure of each cardinal from his residence to go to the apostolic palace.

The papal procession and the ceremony were conducted with pomp. The passage of the pontiff, surrounded and followed by many ecclesiastic, military and civil dignitaries, was most spectacular.

After the consistory the cardinals, both old and new, gathered in the Vatican to return thanks, and then met in the consistorial hall, where Pius X bestowed the cardinal's rings, granted them the privileges of their position and named their titular churches.

House Rejects Amendments to Clayton Bill.

Three Sections of Measure Passed Despite Attacks.

Exclusive Contract Embargo Now Takes in Oil.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Provisions aimed against price discrimination and against exclusive agency contracts were perfected by the House today in the consideration of the Clayton bill to supplement the antitrust laws. Scores of amendments designed to alter the measure as framed by the Judiciary Committee were voted down. Three of the twenty-one sections of the bill were agreed to during the day's debate.

The first section of the bill, dealing with terms and definitions was passed without objection. The second, forbidding price discrimination between purchasers of the same commodities in the same or different communities, was attacked by Representative Graham of Pennsylvania, who offered several amendments. All were defeated.

The section making it unlawful for persons controlling mines or mine products to refuse to sell to responsible persons, after being amended so as to apply to oil and gas wells, was passed over to allow the Judiciary Committee to perfect the new provision.

The principal contest of the day was over the fourth section, making it unlawful for wholesalers to lease or sell goods with a condition that the purchasers shall not deal in the goods of a competitor. Representative McCoy of New Jersey tried unsuccessfully to limit the prohibition to understanding as are made "with the intent of establishing a monopoly or destroying the business of a competitor."

Administration Democrats to Oppose All Moves to Sidelack Exemption Repeal Temporarily in Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Administration leaders announced today that beginning Monday they would make an effort to keep the tolls exemption repeal bill continuously before the Senate, until a vote is reached on the bill, and all the proposed amendments and substitutes.

According to the plan of Senator Simmons, who is leading the fight for repeal, all attempts to lay the bill aside for other measures will be opposed. If opponents of repeal move that it be sidetracked temporarily for appropriation or other bills, a vote will be forced on that motion. It is believed the Senate will soon tire of speeches on toll exemption when this plan is put in operation.

Senators Oliver, Dupont and West spoke on the bill today. Senators Oliver and Dupont opposed repeal and Senator West favored it.

Experienced Women Advise Mother's Friend

Because it is so perfectly safe to use and has been of such great help to a host of expectant mothers, these women, experienced in this most happy period, advise the use of "Mother's Friend."

Applied externally to the abdominal muscles its purpose is to relieve the undue tension upon the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion. Beneath the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and the gentle, soothing embrocation, "Mother's Friend," is designed to soothe the muscular fibres as to avoid the unnecessary and continuous nagging upon this myriad of nerves. Applied to the breasts it affords the proper massage to prevent caking.

There is scarcely a well-stocked drug store anywhere but what you can easily obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" and in nearly every town and village is a grandma who herself used it in earlier years. Expectant mothers are urged to try this splendid aid.

Mother's Friend has been prepared by Bradfield's Regulator Co., 210 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for nearly half a century. Send for valuable little book to expectant mothers.

foreign trade convention. Before the convention held its closing session tonight, more than one hundred of its delegates were received by the President, who warmly endorsed the "get together" purpose of their meeting and declared "nothing was closer to his heart than righteous conquest of foreign markets" and expressed particular interest in the upbuilding of an American merchant marine.

At the closing session the convention adopted resolutions creating a foreign trade council of thirty members to co-ordinate all branches of industry and business for the extension of foreign trade; urging Congress to permit combinations for foreign trade, pledging support to measures to increase the efficiency of the consular and diplomatic service, urging manufacturers to co-operate in the manufacturing census, favoring upbuilding of American merchant marine and urging the President to negotiate treaties for the extension of foreign trade.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Following the visit of the manufacturers to the President, the following statement was given out at the White House:

The President said in reply to the manufacturers that the President understood nothing was more dangerous for business than uncertainty; that it had become evident through a long series of years that a policy such as the Democratic party was now pursuing was absolutely necessary to satisfy the conscience of the country and its perception of the prevailing conditions of business and that it was a great deal better to do the thing moderately and soberly now than to wait until more radical forces had accumulated and it was necessary to go much further.

The President also said that while he was aware of the present depression of business, there was abundant evidence that it was merely psychological, that there is no material condition or substantial reason why the business of the country should not be in the most prosperous and expanding condition. He urged on his visitors the necessity of patriotic co-operation on the part of business men of the country in order to support rather than to oppose the moderate processes of reform, and to help guide them by their own intimate knowledge of business conditions and processes.

THE GUESTS.

United States was a merchant marine,

and that he was greatly interested in the development of the foreign trade of the United States.

"There is nothing in which I am more interested than the fullest development of the trade of this country and its righteous conquest of foreign markets," he said. "It is one of the things we hold nearest to our heart that the government and we should co-operate in the most intimate manner in accomplishing our common object. I am sure that I speak the conviction of all of you when I say that one of our chief needs is to have a merchant marine because if we have to deliver our goods in other people's delivery wagons, their goods are delivered first and our goods are delivered last. Incidentally on their routes. This is a matter I have had near my own heart for a great many years. It was only by authority of my parents that I was prevented from going to sea, and I only hope that it is not a universal regret that I did not."

THE REPLY.

Alba B. Johnson of Philadelphia, president of the National Foreign Trade convention, in replying to the President's address, said the American Manufacturers' Association, the Pan-American Society and the American Asiatic Association had determined that the present was "peculiarly the time to inaugurate a forward movement for the export business of the United States."

"The completion of the Panama Canal," he continued, "the reconstruction and rearrangement of trade relationships which must necessarily result from its completion, the enactment of the tariff, which we believe will open a door outward for our exports to the same extent that it opens inward for the imports of foreign countries, and the fact that the time shall very shortly come when we must look to our exports of manufactures as the means of adjusting the great financial balances between us and other nations, rather than the exportation of foodstuffs—make the time ripe for this forward movement."

"We realize the fact of the unquestioned patriotism, the desire to carry out the best interests of the people of the United States, of every man connected with this administration, both here and in the Capitol. We realize the fact that the government is in the final analysis a government of public opinion, and therefore we have learned that it was unwise at this time, planning as we do a more active campaign in the markets of the world, that we should come here and discuss the vital problems growing out of this great world's business."

Among the delegates who called upon the President were many officers of large industrial corporations including G

NINTH INNING RALLY IS GOOD.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
BOSTON, May 25.—A ninth-inning rally started after two were out, gave Cleveland a 5-to-3 victory over Boston today.

A triple steal worked by three Boston outfielders in the third inning, on which Hooper scored, resulted in the banishment of Manager Birmingham, Grich and Olson of the Clevelanders, who protested too vigorously against the umpire's decision.

And Officer T. Wad Rang for the Wagon!

HARRY ABLES JOINS THE OAKLAND CLUB.

Giant Southpaw Lands Here from Texas—Appears to Be in Great Shape, and Should Bolster Team—Has Been Riding the Range—Oakland Wins Series from the Two League Leaders.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.
Over second, robbing Mac of a thoroughly sound single.
Koch a Globe Trotter.
Harry Koch, barely back from a trip to Australia, is planning another early departure, and that in the direction of Panama. He wants to find out if the big ditch is still holding water. He originally planned to extend his first trip to Japan, but decided that he would wait for enough away from home to satisfy his wanderlust and turned back, like some of Christopher Columbus's hired help wanted to do when there seemed to be nothing but water in front of them. Can't blame them. What good is a "schooner" under such conditions?
Koch brought back from Australia a fine assortment of boomerangs. He will distribute them among the fans, to be thrown at the umpires when they don't behave. They are superior to pop bottles. A pop bottle can be used but once, and is liable to return to its owner after being thrown. (No offense intended to Held and McCarthy. They have been responsible for some of the very best umpiring seen here this year.)

Cuban Trip May Be Off.
Jacinto del Calvo is on the verge of relinquishing his plan to take a team of Coast League stars to Cuba next winter.

Cuba entertains two visiting teams each year—one from the major leagues, and the other from the minors. Calvo has a hunch that contracts have already been closed with two clubs for next winter, and if this proves to be the case there will be no chance for the Coasters to edge in.

Planning Trip to Honolulu.
U. Gene Doyle and the writer have much trouble on hand trying to respond to Honolulu's Macedonian cry for some real baseball next winter.

A proposition has been received from H. G. Lowry of that city to bring a team to the islands along in December. Lowry is now on his way here to submit his terms.

The team, which is being planned, should make the trip, will be in charge of Hap Hogan, and will be composed of players recruited from the Tigers and major leaguers. Scott, Weaver and Schalk of the White Sox, and Vito of Detroit, have already expressed a willingness to make the trip. Bayless and Kane of the Tigers both look on the venture with favor.

Something to Fret About.
Sacramento has added four new players. Will our worries never cease?

THOMSON HEAD OF MONOGRAM CLUB.

Fred Thomson, world's champion all-round athlete, was elected president of the Occidental College Monogram Club at the first meeting of that organization.

Telegram of congratulation from Walter Camp of Yale, A. A. Stagg of Chicago and Keene Fitzpatrick of Princeton were read.

WOLVERTON BUYS INFIELDER ORR.

[BY A. P. KNIGHT WEEK.]
SACRAMENTO, May 28.—Word was received here today that Billy Orr, utility infielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been purchased outright by the Sacramento Coast League team.

JACKSON OUTPOINTS RIDDLE.
Jackson won from Riddle last night in the Brunswick three-cushion billiard tournament, scoring fifty points to forty-seven, after a slow thresh of 144 innings' duration. Both made high runs of three.

Clark and Mamele end the schedule this evening.

FRANCIS OUMET AMATEUR CHAMP.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]
VERSAILLES, May 28.—Francis Oumet, American open golf champion, became amateur champion of France today, by defeating Henry J. Topping of the Greenwich Country Club, Ch., by 4 up and 3 to play, in the final round of thirty-six holes.

CAMPBELL STARS AT THE VIRGINIA COUNTRY CLUB.

BY ALMA WHITTAKER.
expect brilliant things from the stars, but the best R. D. Lapham could do on this occasion was 78 (he won the qualifying round last year.) a score that was equaled by Dr. Selley—a great day for the doctor to tie a Los Angeles star man.

Morris Phillips of Redlands was positively humble on 73, Judge Fredrickson, Conde Jones with 82, A. M. Goodhue, champion of the club, with 85, Raymond Hornby of Redlands with 87—a dark day for these usually radiant ones.

W. W. Campbell and J. C. Niven had a wonderful match, which went to the twentieth hole. That No. 2 is usually fatal to Campbell, his hoodoo hole, and he has never before won a match that went to the Grove green. But on this occasion he won it for 2, 1 under par.

Phillips and French had a close match, the latter winning by 3 and 1, but the rest of the first-flight matches were easy wins. There were two close matches in the second flight—Conde Jones defeated E. H. Bagby at the twenty-first hole and R. D. Coburn defeated Lincoln Clark by 1 up.

The hardest match of the day was between Phil Kitchen and William Harper in the third flight. Harper winning at the twenty-third hole. We left him inquiring for a hospital—forty-one holes in a day is exacting.

It is feared that the Australian cricket team will fail to appear in the Pacific International Exposition.

The International Olympic Committee has conferred upon the Panama-Pacific International Exposition the Olympic medal for the modern pentathlon which will be held in connection with the sports at San Francisco next year.

Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the America's cup, Shamrock IV, will be painted emerald green.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 13, 14 and 15, have been selected by the United States National Lawn Tennis Association as the dates for the challenge matches for the Davis international lawn tennis trophy.

As the American national amateur lawn tennis championship tournament will begin at Newport on August 24, the foreign players will have an opportunity to compete for the American championship.

While the dates for the championship have been settled, the places at which the international matches will be played have not been chosen.

Six nations have challenged. The first round between Canada and Australia and the British Isles and Belgium must be completed by July 25. The semi-final round, in which Germany will meet the winner of the Canada-Australia series, and France faces the victor of the British Isles-Belgium matches, must be completed by August 1.

The final match to decide which nation may challenge the American defenders of the cup must be finished by August 8.

Narragansett Park is to pass as a home of the light harness racing sport. The famous old track is to be covered with a surface of concrete for use by automobiles.

Detroit has 114 automobile factories.

Up and Down Broadway. PEG ENDS RUN IN NEW YORK.

Saturday Night Farewell of Brilliant Success.

Daphne Pollard Buys Baby
Auto Speeder.

Empire Defies Pantages to Play Ball.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

It is rather a coincidence, but Laurette Taylor, in "Peg o' My Heart," completes her record-breaking run at the Cort Theater in New York City tomorrow night, and Sunday night, here at the Majestic, "Peg," though not with Miss Taylor, begins a return engagement in the city which witnessed its debut.

For upward in New York December 20, 1914, and has been running ever since. I think the number of performances totals 664.

At that, "Help Wanted" is making some record, too, at the Cort, in Chicago, having passed the 200-mark, and I understand that Hilda Eklund has secured rights to present it in Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

You would have thought tiny Daphne Pollard was heading for Denmark, too, if you had seen her yesterday, breaking all the traffic laws in an auto as tiny as she is herself.

Seems as soon as she made up her mind that she was to be a real star in "A Knight for a Day," which comes to the Majestic tomorrow night, she figured she ought to have a machine to support her dignity, though heaven knows there's no dignity in Daphne except the size of her salary.

Only she found there was not a car built, not even a Ford, small enough so she could hold the steering wheel and keep her feet on the foot pedals at the same time.

She found the answer in one of those baby machines they race with out at Ascot.

Maybe "Officer 666," who takes up his beat at the Broadway Sunday, will have something to say about the baby auto, for it nearly proved the undoing of Furthest Stanley at Sixth and Main, just after the matinee.

Almost collided with Mark Hilla, too, who, girl in hand, was coming out of town for a trip to San Diego. He turned up his nose when I asked if he were going to give a recital, saying, "How can I when all my people are working."

You can talk about hard times all you want to, and blame poor shows and poor patronage on the high cost of living, but getting down to cases, it is vandals and the pictures which are doing the most damage to the drama by gathering in the real stars.

The Orpheum has been presenting them in bewildering succession, the most in some better than the last. That's a distinct loss for the legit. Then, on the way is Bessie Wynn, mounted on musical comedy and schilling on the horizon. Valerius, Surratt, and more are on the way.

The Pantages bill next week is to be a blend of hobos and Venuses.

Saw Billy Rock yesterday, just back from France, with plans for next season still in air and disgusted with life through having missed that twenty-two game.

Honey is a constant fan, and somewhat of a philosopher. "I saw a thirteen and a fifteen-inning game while up north," was his consolation.

It was easy to anticipate tragedy just to hear Deane Worley, ponderous manager of the Empire, telephoning frantically all over town for a chest protector.

And here it is in the form of a challenge. No, not the chest protector, but the challenge.

"The Empire Theater ball team, with Deane Worley and Sidney Campbell as the battery, defies the Pantages Theater (a local nine) to a game as early as possible. Any side bet will be covered."—W. Russell, manager.

And as Deane Worley is the fattest manager, and Carl Walker the skinniest, it should be some game.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO START TODAY.

With an entry list much larger and containing far more stars than was the case last year, the second annual handicap meet of the Southern California Tennis Club will commence this afternoon and continue tomorrow and the following Saturday.

Following are the drawings and handicaps for the first round of the tournament:

Men's singles: Upper half—J. H. Prosser (20) vs. bye, Horace Donnell (14-15) vs. bye, Allyn Barber (14-15) vs. Earl Shook (14-15), Harry Belden (15) vs. Wilson Jones (14-20), S. M. ## Forget work for two days

AFTER all is not the big object of life to be happy and make others so—is not that what we really work for? And are not Vacation Days after all a play-time to whet our sense of humor and weed out the false seriousness that springs up in our Garden of Endeavors?

Part, and the big part, of the play-day's enjoyment is the feel of it—dressed for the fun and in tune with where you are and who you are with.

It's summer, Man, reflect it

DIVIDED HONORS WITH HUESTON.

Tom Hueston met the first defeat of his local engagement at Morley's last night, when Fred Lee ran out 150 balls at pocket billiards in forty innings, with the ex-world's champion stalled at 137. Hueston made high run of 19, with Lee's 16 nearing him. Close play predominated, with few scratches.

Hueston won from A. C. Gould at three-cushion billiards in the afternoon session, with scores of 50 to 44, in eighty-nine innings. Both men made high run of five points.

STATE BANKERS HONOR WELCH.

San Francisco Financier to Head Association.

Resolution Affecting Reserve
District Is Approved.

Entry Into Insurance Is to Be Undertaken.

San Francisco, May 19.—(R. M. Welch, president of the Savings Union Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco, was elected president of the California Bankers' Association at the close of its business deliberations at the Hotel Oakland this afternoon. The other officers will include: Vice-president, Charles A. Smith of the Security Bank, Oakland; Treasurer, William H. High, assistant cashier of the Bank of California, San Francisco; Secretary, J. W. Bush, president of the Bank of California, San Francisco; Assistant cashier of the First National Bank, Los Angeles; L. G. Gurnea, cashier of the Bank of California, Fresno; and J. C. Johnston, cashier of the Oakland Bank of Savings.

THE RESOLUTIONS. The following resolutions were adopted: A recommendation of J. E. Welch, vice-president of the First National Bank, San Francisco, and of the California Bankers' Association, to the association of the American Bankers' Association, to be held at Richmond, Va., next October, for the purpose of the latter body, a resolution approving the action of the Clearinghouse Association of the Federal Reserve Bank in recommending a plan for the nomination of directors for the Federal Reserve Bank, also an approval of the plan under this plan of C. E. McLaughlin, James K. Lynch and Alden Stephens as class A directors, and of J. C. Doherty, J. A. McGregory, and H. C. Cox as class B directors of the Federal Reserve Bank at San Francisco.

A resolution favoring the appointment of a committee on insurance, the duty shall be the investigation and report on all matters pertaining to insurance affecting the members of the association; the appointment of a committee on standards of bank forms to be named by the president, with the request that it report on such forms and report at the next convention with recommendations as to what should be appointed by the president, with the request that it report on such matters as of special interest to banks and insurance; and further, that it be requested to co-operate with the American Bankers' Association in its efforts to bring about a better understanding of these problems; that the association co-operate with the American Bankers' Association on the question of insurance; that the California Bankers' Association approve the efforts to promote the interests of irrigation, water storage, flood control, irrigation, drainage and reclamation; an expression of appreciation of the efforts of the local committee of bankers and the bank of Oakland generally to the ladies of Oakland for courtesies to the ladies of Oakland on behalf of the ladies accompanying the association. The various recommendations were adopted unanimously.

REHEARSALS HONORED. A feature of the closing session was the presentation on behalf of the delegates of a large silver loving cup to the retiring president, L. P. Welch, by Past President H. A. Watsonville.

The morning and afternoon sessions were featured by a number of papers and addresses on different phases of State activity. The papers of the day were by James K. Lynch, vice-president of the First National Bank of San Francisco, on "The Banker Has Failed," in which he warned sarcastically on the question of the refusal of the bankers to take the banker's advice.

FROM LYNCH'S ADDRESS. "The banker's advice," Lynch said, "is to follow on matters of business procedure, social affairs, but no legislator would follow the folly of taking his advice on banking legislation." The protracted discussion on the Federal Reserve Act it was contended that the advice of the banker could not be taken on financial matters, for if given the opportunity for their own selfish ends, the bankers would procure legislation that both interests are identical. The mere permission to the bankers to perform a great economic function was the cause for the failure of the Federal Reserve Act.

A GOOD CUSTOMER.
One copper producing company in the Warren district buys a half-million gallons of oil from California every month. A yearly order of 6,000,000 gallons from a single Arizona smelter is business to encourage.

A MEAN PRESIDENT.
The late Mrs. Nordica was Lillian Norton in private life. Her name was not changed to make it look Italian, but because her Puritan relatives thought it would disgrace the name if she used it on the stage. Men who could afford it would give a million to have a Nordica use their.

DEMONS AND FETTERED.
There are said to be two bad paymasters who pay in advance and those who never pay. The Mexican people is permitted to eat his dinner before he earns it and so loses his liberty. The American worker must earn his dinner before he eats it and so preserves his freedom.

IN COIN ON PROTECTION.
Abraham Lincoln condensed the argument for protection in a paragraph. He said: "If my wife buys her cloak in America we get the money and the cloak and American labor is paid for producing it; if she buys her cloak abroad we get only the cloak; the other country gets the money and foreign labor receives the benefit of it."

WATCHFUL WAITING.
If the decision of the mediators shall be as reported, President Wilson will have expended about twenty-one million dollars of the public money and sacrificed more than twenty-one lives and brought upon himself the ridicule of about twenty-one nations in Europe and America and, after all, he won't get the salute of twenty-one guns which he craved.
"Watchful waiting" has been a costly snare for the American people.

A MISTAKE OF DANIELA.
Secretary Daniels has made a deplorable mistake. He induced L. T. Yarborough of Raleigh, N. C. for an inspection and now finds out that the man he induced is a Republican. The collector of that district threatened Yarborough with the crime of voting for Taft at the Presidential election. Yarborough cannot deny the charge, but avows that he is not willing to be a Democrat for revenue only, while Daniela is in hot water with no grog in sight.

THE AEROPLANE IN WAR.
The aeroplane is demonstrating its value in warfare, especially for harbor defense purposes. The Federal gunboat Moroles, which was an effective defense of Manila against Constitutional attacks, was bombarded by a Constitutional aeroplane and forced to put to sea with its bridge and bulwarks ripped away by bombs and its upper works on fire.

The manager of the aeroplane failed in his effort to drop a bomb into one of the smokestacks. If he had succeeded in this he would have sent the gunboat to the bottom. The aeroplane was unable to chase the Moroles out to sea and continue the attack for lack of a sufficient supply of gasoline.

MODERN SCULPTURE.
There seems to be no doubt that the world today insists on art from stone chisel and stone. Russia has come forward with a genius in sculpture whose work carries a peculiar irony utterly foreign to the gladiators of the Russian novel and drama. Scorn becomes sculpture wall. It cannot plead and it must not apologize. We have a temperament in America befitting a style of sculpture, yet thus far only two or three of our countrymen have attained to any excellence in this great art and most of them have been exceedingly unconventional in what they have accomplished. A cartoon in stone is not great art. A thing might be modern without being mean.

A TERRIFIC ORDER.
Austria does not intend that the Panama Canal or any other cause shall take from her the best part of her population. The Austrian government has taken exceedingly drastic means to keep the young men at home for service as soldiers. An order has been issued forbidding the emigration of all men under 34 years of age and directing the Austrian officials to detain at the frontier all who cannot produce a passport. Local authorities have received instructions to issue passports only to men who can prove that they have performed the statutory term of military service including the full term in the reserve. This means twelve years for the average male.

If the enforcement of this tyrannical order does not shake the throne of Franz Josef and precipitate a revolution it will astonish those who are acquainted with the Austrian people. The idea of taking twelve of the best years of every man's life for military service, either active or reserved, is simply appalling. Even if he is allowed, for most of these years, to work for himself subject to call as a member of a reserve corps, yet he is nevertheless a prisoner within the confines of the Austrian empire. He cannot go into Saxony or any part of Germany or France or Italy in search of work, and he cannot emigrate to the United States or Canada. The execution is simply monstrous.

LET THE WHOLE TRUTH COME TO LIGHT.

The testimony of C. E. Mellen before the investigating committee of the Interstate Commerce Commission has ended and now the directors of the New Haven will be called upon to explain what they had to do, or not to do, with the systematic robbery of the stockholders. Mellen may or may not have lied. But he is a criminal and a craven. It is inconceivable that he could have participated in such a protracted series of robberies without the complicity and assistance of his associates. By his admission he had, during that period and on some of his deals, the advice and sanction of T. Roosevelt, at that time President of the United States. God grant that the investigation bring the whole truth to light! No guilty man should escape. Guilt is personal, and the underground passage that led from Mellen's office to the White House should be thoroughly explored. It may be that Roosevelt did not know Mellen was investing him into sanctioning the spoliation of the New Haven stockholders. But the truth should be known. Corporations do not contribute enormous sums to the campaign funds of politicians without something definite to show that the money has not been carefully invested.

Mr. Mellen seems to have had no sense of right and wrong during the period that he was president of the New Haven. The small stockholders were absolutely ignored. Their money was squandered riotously. Over $100,000 was spent in the course of a few years for campaign purposes, and most of it went to help Roosevelt get into office.

Some presidents, directors and managers of corporations in control of great property interests seem to harbor the idea that it is all their property, to do with as they please. It is not. The small stockholder with but a few thousand dollars invested has as much right to be protected, is as much entitled to his pro rata dividends and earnings as the man or men with millions invested. And when such managers as Mellen sidetrack tremendously large sums and have the corporation buy up the private holdings of the directors or of friends of the directors, at prices many times larger than the value of the property purchased, giving the directors and their friends millions of loot, every last one of them implicated in such deals should be held before the bar of justice and punished. A president or director of a corporation who "unloads" on the other stockholders for whom he is a trustee commits a criminal act, and if detected he cannot escape prosecution.

Mellen confessed that the New Haven bought from Senator Aldrich the Rhode Island trolley interests, that were worth approximately $1,000,000, for $20,000,000. Aldrich was a relative by marriage to William Rockefeller, one of the directors of the New Haven.

Mellen confessed that at another time he, as president of the road, appointed a committee of three, of which Morgan, Sr., and William Rockefeller were members, and this committee spent $11,000,000. In the report of the committee the expenditures of the money were not itemized, but Mr. Mellen says he, in common with the other directors, "probably voted for it"—that is, to adopt the report.

Mellen's efforts to place the blame on Morgan for these transactions are pitiful. If Morgan succeeded in transferring the money, then Mellen is as criminal and is more contemptible, because he held a higher office at the hands of the New Haven stockholders and should have demanded a strict accounting of all expenditures, though made by Saint Peter himself.

Mellen rose from a position as clerk to that of the presidency of perhaps the greatest railroad in the world. The man who accomplishes that feat must have some characteristics other than a shrinking squeal in the proposals and demands of others. All through Mellen's testimony he reiterates that he was willing to do anything Mr. Morgan wanted, saying: "I had given faith in his judgment than in my own. I yielded my judgment to his in many cases, and in most cases I am bound to say, practically with one exception, I think his judgment was better of the money. As far as the money of a railroad, indeed, who allowed himself to be led into crime like a little schoolboy dragged into the theft of an apple orchard."

Mellen testified that he not only secured President Roosevelt's endorsement to buy Boston and Maine shares, but that Roosevelt practically told him not to sell a steamship line to the Morse interests, which were anxious to take over the system. Mellen stated that he seemed to have a genius in the selection of a railroad, as he said, but consulted President Roosevelt, who (according to Mellen) said: "I can only promise for myself, Mr. Mellen, but if you do not sell your lines to Mr. Morse, I will promise you, so far as I am concerned, that you shall have no trouble while the law remains as it is—you shall experience no trouble from me in your ownership of what you now have."

Mellen added for himself: "That was the reason, I suppose, when the dissolution, or bill of equity, was filed against the New Haven by the government there was no mention of steamships made in that bill in the accusations against the New Haven Railroad."

Q. What bill are you speaking of?
A. The bill that was filed by Atty-Gen. Bonaparte some time before the close of Mr. Roosevelt's administration.

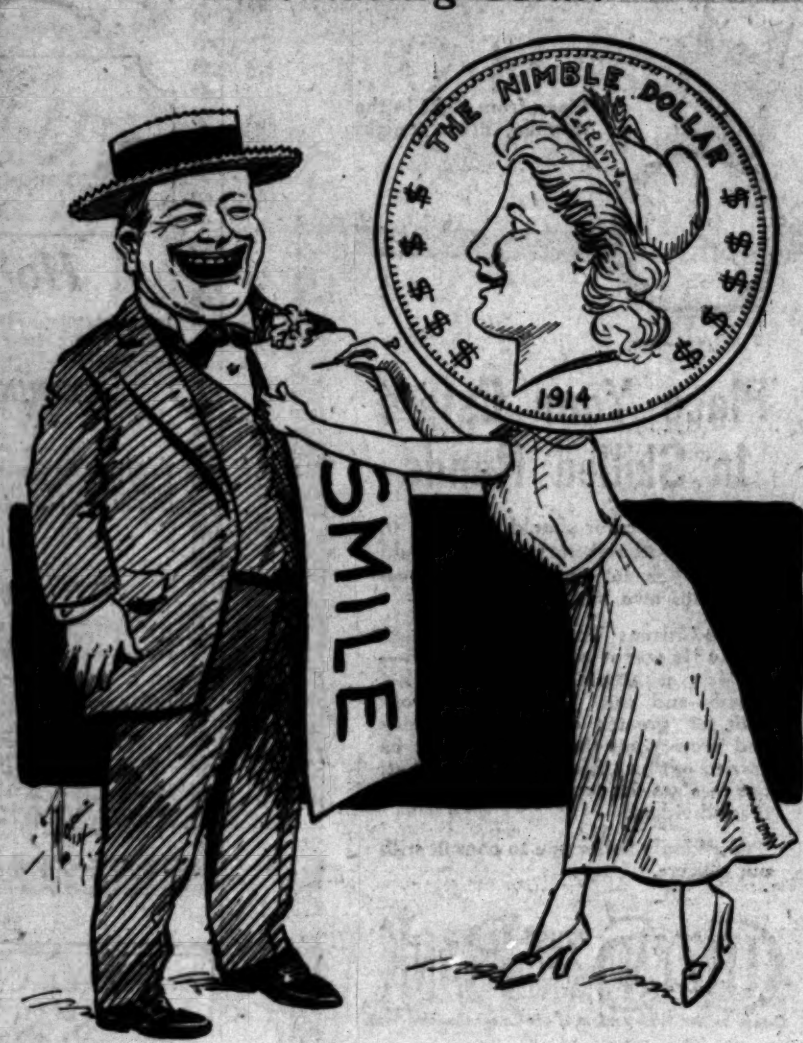

All of those statements taken from the testimony of Mellen made under oath and reveal much more than even persons distrustful of T. Roosevelt's character had suspected. So far as we know there is no record to show that Banker Morse contributed to Roosevelt's campaign fund. Mellen did—or rather the stockholders of the New Haven did—without knowing anything about it. And, according to Mellen, Roosevelt promised immunity to the New Haven.

Mellen, the sneak-thief of finance who wails that for all of his crimes he didn't get a dollar, went to President Roosevelt for advice on deals—and got it. Mellen went to him because Roosevelt was President. Mellen supported him and financed his campaigns because he knew Roosevelt was not impervious to flattery and contributions.

It is to be hoped that the Interstate Commerce Commission will go to the bottom of all this.

Why doesn't President Wilson send a fleet to Santo Domingo? The government troops and rebels are bumping their heads together there.

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

The recent publication of Great Britain's annual budget—her annual financial spring cleaning—has caused wide consternation in the Mother Country. David Lloyd George will certainly go down to history as the Socialist Chancellor of the Exchequer; and his raid this year on all annual incomes exceeding $5000 is tantamount to a redistribution of wealth.

It costs a very great deal to be a rich man in England. And the death duties in particular—now raised to 20 per cent. on fortunes may grab the highest in the world—will go far to break up the fine old estates inseparable from the system of landed aristocracy and of which England has been so proud.

Great Britain—King and court and royal family notwithstanding—has a more pronouncedly Socialist government in power at the present time than any other nation. Their old-age pensions, their state insurance against sickness and unemployment, their national fund for the feeding of the children of the poor are but a few of the larger Socialist measures that have been added to the statute book during the past decade. And they are proving a costly burden on the national exchequer for which it becomes increasingly difficult to make provision in a free trade country, where great commercial industries are annually closed down in order that the foreigner may grab the market—the idealistic theory which assumes that it is better to be able to buy cheap even if one is compelled to renounce his source of income for the privilege.

This year the estimated expenditure of the British government is $1,097,275,000 and the visible revenue but $1,063,275,000—a deficit of ninety-four millions, which the Chancellor proposes to provide for out of increased income taxes and super-taxes, death duties (already the highest in the world) and the sinking fund.

There is a remission of income tax for the fathers of families to the extent of $3.50 for each child under 14 years of age on incomes not exceeding $2500 a year—it was formerly $1.75 for children under 16, so that father is busy trying to work out whether he is a gainer or a loser by the change!

Twenty-five millions of the new taxes will be used for clearing the slums and meeting model dwellings in congested districts. Ten millions goes in contributions to municipalities toward the building of new roads. Two and a half millions goes for higher educational purposes, and about twelve millions is set aside for special grants to local authorities to relieve the present exorbitant local rates and taxes!

This last item gives one to think. There are poor districts in London, notably such as Bethnal Green, in which the taxes amount to ten shillings in the pound, 40 per cent. This state of affairs is due partly to excessive pauperism and partly to municipal wastefulness—and fundamentally to the appalling lack of employment doubtless due to a persistent policy of free trade.

In fact, an impartial study of the latest British budget gives a painful impression of a blind policy of palliation—relief, not cure. Such a system of benevolent doles must necessarily breed a nation of paupers, must sap the independence of the individual, cultivate the lean-to disposition. A significant item in the new taxation in this respect is the high rate of taxation imposed upon British capital invested abroad. A free trade policy that drives capital abroad seeking to mitigate its own false doctrines with spiteful penalties.

One is impressed with the comparatively small number of people the super-tax hits—showing that under the fifty years of free trade the rich man has been able to become richer (the vast army of unemployed engendered by the quickly closing industries making labor distressingly cheap) and the poor man to become poorer, his avenues of earned income being decreased to an alarming degree. Wages have been three and four times as great in the United States under a high protectionist policy and the small increased cost of living has been a cheap price to pay for national prosperity.

The Chancellor's present brilliant idea would seem to be that he can alleviate the woes of the poverty-stricken masses by making these few rich men poorer. Instead of providing the poor man with a job he provides him with the means of living a little longer without work. There must necessarily come a time in the affairs of Great Britain when there will no longer be any rich men to mulct and her surplus millions of underfed population will be forced to migrate to the great self-governing dominions of the empire—Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, besides the ever-hospitable United States.

VERA CRUZ AS A HEALTH RESORT.
Vera Cruz was at one time the pest hole of the gulf coast of Mexico. Perforio Diaz had it cleaned up. He established sewers and had crude oil applied to standing water until mosquitoes were eliminated. Under the rule of Madero the town once more became the summer resort of small-pox and the winter abiding place of yellow fever. Gen. Funston revived the sanitary regulations prescribed by Porfirio Diaz and rigorously enforced them. Compulsory vaccination and rigid enforcement of the Diaz regulations for municipal and personal cleanliness have made of Vera Cruz the healthy city it was when Porfirio Diaz was President.

All's well that ends well.

WALT MASON IN THE TIMES.

Our flags are flying at half-mast, and crepe is on our doors; our noblest relic's gone at last to distant, alien shores. The wrestler's crown is ours no more, the garland of the wreath; our hearts are sad, our heads are sore, and we have aching teeth. From Poland's shore there came a figure grand, sublime, whose hand had turned, in our despair; there no tall man or charm, to lure him from his lair? Is there no way, we ask; to drag, the Gotch from his retreat? Will he defend the stony flag, or has his got cold feet? You know how at Jim Jeffries's door we pounded, on a day, when all our hearts were sick and sore, our laurels wrenched away. And Jeffries came to bring them back, a figure grand, sublime, whose hand had turned—alas!—back! We'll tell some other time. And now all patriots demand that Gotch, the great and strong, should keep the laurels in this land, where surely they belong.

A man will leave everything else to the Lord, but he wants to attend to the punishment of his enemies himself.

It is easy for the fellow with the raincoat and umbrella to remember that the sun is shining behind the dark clouds. You learn a few things and forget a whole lot of things every day that you live. What has become of the old-fashioned man who said you were "a gentleman and a scholar" when you treated him?

Ever notice that a junk dealer has that kind of a wagon?

When you sit up the yellow polka dots on some man's white shirts you figure that they learned to chew tobacco at a correspondence school.

Of course you can have your own way in everything if you insist upon it. But you are going to be mighty lonesome.

Women and phonographs never suffer in silence.

I'd rather have the girls dress the way they do than return to the old days when you had to wait until a woman's clothes began to move before you knew they were inhabited.

Every man believes that the laundries are in cahoots with the collar trade. A woman isn't that way. But a man would rather have a lot of friends than a lot of relatives.

Some of the grouches who complain about this being a cold world will be hollering about the heat in the next world.

The reason a woman won't tell a secret is because you can put a ten-cent piece of ice in the furnace and it will keep the house hot all night.

ON BEING A MOTHER

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

National heroes rarely rise to the distinction of a "day" until they have been a long time dead. This "Mother's Day" movement is therefore a trifle ominous. It certainly indicates that if all mothers are not actually dead they are at least sadly on the wane. The time has arrived when they need boosting, when their memory needs a national effort, a special consecration.

Live soldiers are not honored with a Decoration Day, and Lord Meath did not institute Great Britain's Empire Day until the empire began to show uncomfortable signs of decay. St. Patrick's Day in Ireland and Nelson's Day in England were both founded when those countries realized that they were slipping backward from the glories and triumphs those names signified. (Nelson is really much more of a patron saint to England than St. George; his day is never overlooked, but poor St. George often in Britannia rules the waves still by the skin of her teeth.)

Being a mother is the most important profession in the world. And it is left exclusively in the hands of more or less talented amateurs. An arduous profession, fraught with dire responsibilities, alarming complications and problems, brutal disappointments, incredible ingratitude. For which reason the enormous percentage of successful mothers is little short of marvelous.

It depends so much upon instinct and adaptability, resourcefulness and the ability to deal with unforeseen contingencies, that no two cases of motherhood are alike, each separate child calls for distinct treatment, each individual baby presents new problems, new conditions, new tempers, new stomachs.

To be an ideal mother is to be a saint, a genius, a heroine. That many of us have fallen a little below this ideal is unfortunate, but comprehensible. The theory of motherhood is all beautiful, all sweet, it takes almost superhuman abilities to maintain the beauty and the sweetness. It is a profession in which mistakes are rewarded with bitter scourging of soul and heart and mind—life-long penance.

And the rewards are a little intangible, chiefly taking the form of a passionate conviction that we did our best. The only sort of mother who can ever hope to enjoy the highest rewards of motherhood is the essentially unselfish mother, minus egotism, who is unconsciously content to accept her pleasures by proxy—whose ideal of happiness is in seeing others happy.

And this sort of mother can be assured of the patronizing affection of her children to the end, a loving toleration of her small idiosyncrasies, providing they don't happen too seriously conflict with her child's convenience.

Yet it is rare for a mother to complain. And when those rare instances do crop up public sentiment is all against the mother.

Which perhaps helps to explain why the most important profession in the world must necessarily remain in the hands of more or less talented amateurs. Scientific motherhood on a diploma basis, with gigantic salaries for the skilled and competent, would seem to be their profession of choice. They would rather be paid for their profession than for their duty.

We like to criticize these modern mothers and waggle an accusing finger at the maternity shirkers. Have done it myself and shall probably do it again. But perhaps on Mother's Day we might be a little lenient, a little tolerant, a little forgiving.

Being a mother nowadays is very much like being a stocker on board ship. In the hold they blindly do their duty, feeding the great fires, keeping the ship going, they know not in what direction, under what conditions. News comes, to them from time to time that the ship is in danger, that full steam ahead, more fire, more energy, less rest is essential—or that they must leave the fire and concentrate all hands on the pumps to keep the ship from sinking.

And they go right on doing what seems to be required of them, what seems to be for the best. They don't understand what's happening, they can't hear the excitement on deck, and maybe the ship is going down and they will be drowned right there in the hold like rats in a trap. They don't like it and it isn't comfortable—but it is previous rare for stocker to leave his fire, to desert his pumps, and if the ship is saved and sails serenely into port he draws his meagre pay—the least on the ship—and feels he is sure of his job this time. If it goes down his chances of being saved are small, and how to Gotch's sylvan farm, you know how at Jim Jeffries's door we pounded, on a day, when all our hearts were sick and sore, our laurels wrenched away. And Jeffries came to bring them back, a figure grand, sublime, whose hand had turned—alas!—back! We'll tell some other time. And now all patriots demand that Gotch, the great and strong, should keep the laurels in this land, where surely they belong.

Your mother and my mother—they must have been pretty good mothers to have raised such bright children as we are to maturity. And the mothers of the present generation are much the same. We look askance at young Willie and little Ethel and deplore the way they are being reared, but the chances are they will grow up quite as decent as you and me.

And we wax indignant at the idle rich who have but one child, or none at all; but as some bright soul has already pointed out, it is not altogether regrettable that this sort of person should not reproduce their kind.

One of the first essentials for motherhood is a lovely foolishness, a serene absence of premonitions, an improvident mentality that takes no thought for tomorrow, a sublime faith in the laws of nature and of God. When she is wise enough, she enough shrewd enough to be all that we would have our modern mothers be, she is too wise to be a mother at all. She ponders on this man and that, weighs probabilities in the balance, regards the whole proposition on a sound business basis, and guesses the risks are a bit too high. Many a man is good enough to marry, good enough to provide home and wearing apparel, who falls a little short of one's ideal for a father.

So, perhaps, after all, we better not be too anxious to educate the mothers. Raising the standard in fathers will improve conditions and raise the rewards of motherhood to a more equitable level.

Within the twilight of this house of mine I stand upon a stairway, old and new. Pausing a minute from my toil and rest. And with new hopes,—strange hopes, I am born.

Above I gaze, where 'mid a rainbow's hands. A shining form holds out his arms. Below—dim ghosts, black shapes, and fro. And one—a queenly shape who stands.

I start half poised to mount the stair. But may not move—nor can I turn. To solve the mystery and darkly burn. To pluck the veil from off the face of morn.

I cannot recollect the time nor place. I mounded upward, spurred by care. And yet to reach the steps I have to pause. Others I must have climbed.

I hear? Strange visions all me of a life of pain. Of ancient hates and love and pain. Sweet memories of life's dark days. And prophecies of fate and pain.

Each step, a life, has brought me to this still. From out the darkness, all I see. The radiant goal shaped by my will. The crowned fulfillment of my dream.

Long I must wait, though all I see. Of ancient hates and love and pain. Ere I can clasp that shining stair. And have I left my yearning there?

That fair, that shrouded face below. Dear, that I loved in ages past. Sweet, whose white arms I once above. Ye are the same, your eyes are the same. The incarnations of my past and new.

HONOR MEMORY OF DEFENDERS

Memorial-Day Observance to Be Widespread.

Unveiling of Bronze Tablet at Rosedale Cemetery.

Tomorrow's Exercises at Where to Find Them.

Memorial Day—the day sacred to the memory of the country's dead defenders—is to be observed in this city tomorrow with many ceremonies.

The Memorial Committee of the Sons of the American Revolution, the United States Volunteer Association, and the United States War Veterans have issued orders for the observance of the day. Probably owing to the fact that it is impossible to secure a hall large enough to accommodate more than a fraction of the crowd that has always gathered to attend the special services in the city.

It has been recommended that the principal exercises be held in Central Park. Evergreen, Rosedale and Hollywood cemeteries, for reasons too obvious to mention, the customary long marches have been eliminated, and those who wish to take part in the services will assemble at the designated places of their own pleasure.

YOUNG AND OLD JOIN.
At Rosedale Cemetery there will be commemorative exercises by the Sons of the American Revolution, the United States Volunteer Association, and the United States War Veterans, and it will be necessary to assemble at the cemetery at 9 a.m., to be in time for the services of the latter organization, which will consist of the unveiling of the monument which has been erected in the plot of the Spanish War Veterans, and the reading of the names of the fallen.

The monument which has been erected in the plot of the Spanish War Veterans, is embellished with a bronze tablet made from metal secured from the shipwreck of the Maine, and the flag which will be unfurled on the day of the unveiling, which was the flag of the ship which sank in San Diego harbor following an explosion.

The monument will be unveiled by little Miss Meyer, daughter of Commander Meyer, of the U. S. Navy. The services will consist of a prayer by Pastor Commander J. C. Curtin, introduction by the Memorial Day Committee; invocation; reading of the names of the fallen; oration by John J. Barnhart; oration by John J. White; and the reading of the names of the fallen.

The services will be held at the cemetery at 9 a.m., to be in time for the services of the latter organization, which will consist of the unveiling of the monument which has been erected in the plot of the Spanish War Veterans, and the reading of the names of the fallen.

The Garbage Can.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—[To the Editor of the Times:] It seems strange to me with all this talk about a clean and beautiful city that the eyes of the City Fathers have never fallen upon the rows of garbage cans and piles of empty cans and bottles that line our beautiful parkways, almost every day in the week.

I have had eastern friends here visiting and in showing them about there was not a section in which we did not find the garbage cans, many of them upset; and most of them partly open—sending forth delightful odors.

Now the efforts to "clean up" may produce a "clean" city, but you will never have a beautiful city so long as you allow garbage cans and "old trash" to line your parkways. Where have your "City Fathers" been all the time that they have allowed tracts of land to be laid out without alleys?

Far better to have a few feet less land in front and an alley behind than to have such sights as we now have.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

M. AND MRS. R. R. BURNS of Alhambra announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Adams, to Hugh Purcell. The bride-elect is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Adams of Chicago, and has been visiting her uncle and aunt for the past year, having come soon after the marriage of their daughter, Shirley, to Outhrie Clark—one of the smart weddings of that season.

Hugh Purcell, bridegroom-elect, is one of the five sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gervase Purcell of San Gabriel, one of the old families who settled here thirty years ago. He is an architect in this city.

Mrs. and Mr. R. R. Burns will formerly announce the engagement at an at-home which they will hold at their Alhambra residence on Sunday next, when Mrs. Gervase Purcell, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. S. S. Bates will preside at the tea table.

The wedding will take place on June 17, next, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burns in Alhambra, a similar wedding to that accorded their daughter, Mrs. Clark, nearly two years ago. Mrs. Clark came from Ventura for the wedding.

To Return. Mrs. and Mr. Oliver Dwight Norton, who have been spending several months in the Orient, arrived in San Francisco Saturday on the steamer Hongkong Maru and are expected at their Montecito home early this week.

Mrs. Sharp to Entertain. Mrs. C. H. Sharp of Wilshire boulevard will give an informal card party this afternoon complimentary to Mrs. John Kinnet of Philadelphia, who is the house guest of Mrs. A. C. Denman of Hobart boulevard. There will be three tables of bridge.

Somerville-Smith Wedding. Miss Carol Somerville, daughter of ex-Senator and Mrs. George W. Somerville of Harvard boulevard, was married last evening to Warren Smith. The service took place at the beautiful family home. Rev. A. W. Noel Porter was the officiating clergyman, and just before the reading of the lines, Miss May Bendix sang a solo which was followed by harp selections by Mrs. John Mitchell. The bride was attended by her bridesmaids, Misses May Bendix and Dorothy McCall, who prepared a special programme of appropriate pieces. The bride, attired in white tulle, trimmed with Milan lace, made a pretty picture, with her huge shower of bride roses and valley lilies. She was attended by Miss Alice Smith, who assisted as maid of honor, attired in a handsome gown of pink embroidered crepe. Her bouquet was an armful of Cecile Brunner, little John Russell carried the ring and small Dorothy McCall scattered flowers along the bridal path which was adorned with a large cake surrounded by roses and candelabra. A honeymoon trip through the north will be enjoyed, and the couple will arrive at Mrs. Smith will make their home on West Twenty-first street.

Mrs. McCoy to Entertain. Mrs. James David McCoy of No. 1400 Wilshire boulevard, will give an informal card party this afternoon complimentary to Mrs. John Kinnet of Philadelphia, who is the house guest of Mrs. A. C. Denman of Hobart boulevard. There will be three tables of bridge.

Trellises Ordered. The committee on beautifying Los Angeles County outside of the city of Los Angeles reported yesterday that they had ordered 3600 three-quarter-inch iron pipe trellises, each twenty feet in length, on which climbing vines will be planted, and also that 15,000 rose plants had been ordered. These are to be placed along the roads to make a continuous border of roses seventy-five miles in length.

Mrs. McCoy to Entertain. Mrs. James David McCoy of No. 1400 Wilshire boulevard, will give an informal card party this afternoon complimentary to Mrs. John Kinnet of Philadelphia, who is the house guest of Mrs. A. C. Denman of Hobart boulevard. There will be three tables of bridge.

LONG BEACH, May 28.—After spirited talk on the advantages of municipally-owned auditorium, Henry P. Harbour at the meeting of the Long Beach Realty Board last night, members of that body lined up in favor of the project as against the plan for the building of a private auditorium and pier enterprise by C. Working.

The Working plan was not without its advocates, but the logic of the who spoke for the municipal plan was the members, who were met at the banquet. Among those who talked either for or against the plan were Harbour, who was seconded by the board, and C. Working, who was seconded by the board.

AUTO TRUCKS.
Within two months a large concern will be turning out automobile trucks on the Long Beach plant. The Kenmore Motor Truck Company, a half-million-dollar corporation, has been organized for Long Beach, and is now in the process of building a plant on the Long Beach pier.

WHEN Should a Will be Made?

When the maker is in good health and capable of looking on life and his own affairs in a normal manner.

Many of the Wills that are broken were executed shortly before the death of the testators, the contest being made on the ground of incompetence and undue influence arising from illness.

The time is now! If you do not care to have your own attorney draw up your Will, our Trust Attorney, if the SECURITY is named as Executor or Trustee, will give you every assistance.

SECURITY Trust Service, in the handling of estates, is based on long experience along fiduciary lines. SECURITY Trust Safety lies in the personhood of the institution's management and directorate, its reputation for conservatism extending over a quarter of a century, and in the $400,000.00 deposited with the State as security for trust funds.

"I Looked all over the U.S.A.—I Located in Milford Valley"

D. S. Stamy

If you are in a position to DEMAND the best money-making farming opportunity that the entire west offers—if you want land that appeals to the type of farmers and investors who are able to buy ANYTHING in farming or fruit lands, no matter how high the price is—the following letter from Mr. D. S. Stamy, who made a nation-wide search for the best farm proposition, and located on 160 acres of Milford land—should be of interest to you.

WESTERN SECURITIES COMPANY, 710-712 Hollingsworth Bldg., Los Angeles, Cal.

GENTLEMEN—I am more than satisfied with my recent purchase of 160 acres of Milford land. I own land in Montana and Dakota and I have studied farming conditions in many States. I was born and raised in Iowa and I know conditions in that State.

I want to say that from the standpoint of soil, water, climate and price, the Milford proposition is the best I have seen. I have never seen a better grade of alfalfa. When my land is in alfalfa I would not take less than $250 an acre for it.

The market conditions in the Milford country are the very best. Before purchasing I gave the entire proposition, including the company back of it, the severest investigation and I found everything O. K. I was in Southern California for some time studying farming conditions, but I found nothing to equal Milford. My advice to the man who wants the best for the least money is to come to Milford.

D. S. STAMY, Milford, Utah.

The Milford irrigation project comprises 15,000 acres of deep, rich soil in the Milford Valley of Southern Utah—on the main line of the Salt Lake Railroad and suburban to the rapidly growing city of Milford—an important railroad and mining center.

A small portion of this valley has been farmed for 50 years under small "home made" irrigation systems—these farms are 15 to 35 miles from a railroad, and despite these conditions the settlers have waxed independent—they have built beautiful homes, schools and churches. They produce 500 and 600 bushels of potatoes to the acre—7 tons of alfalfa to the acre each season, and today get $19 a ton for it, baled—they value their land at $200 to $250 an acre.

A great gravity irrigation system, one of the best in all the West, has just been completed, supplying an inexhaustible flow of water to the 15,000 acres of Milford lands—which are right on the main line of the Salt Lake Railroad and suburban to the city of Milford. This land is being sold rapidly at the bedrock price of $30 per acre cash—a perpetual water right is sold with every acre at $70 per share, payable in 12 years, if time is desired.

Milford is not an ordinary project for ordinary men—Milford is an exceptional land opportunity—for men who demand something exceptional. Well-to-do men from the best agricultural sections of the West are locating at Milford—buying land at $30 an acre that should be worth $250 an acre when it is in alfalfa.

Milford Valley offers you land of a fraction of its real value—soil that will produce bumper crops of alfalfa, potatoes, sugar beets, asparagus, celery, deciduous fruits and vegetables—high-priced markets—"main-line" transportation facilities—high elevation—invigorating mountain air—300 days of sunshine—cost of maintaining water system should not exceed 30 cents per acre per year (engineers' estimate)—best social and educational advantages—assured increase in land value.

Write or call for new booklet just off the press giving facts, figures, testimonials, crop records, etc. Special homeseekers' excursion rates to Milford every Saturday.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Receipts of tomatoes from local territory at this early season of the year have come rather as a surprise to the commission men. Growers of produce in what is called the "war zone," or foothills, both around Los Angeles have gone into competition with portions of the State farther south, and this year their tomatoes, cucumbers and sweet corn have arrived not only as soon, but even prior to those from Imperial. Local corn has been in the market for a month now and is selling at $1.13.25 per bag bush on good quality. Tomatoes have just started to come in and these are selling at $1.00 to $1.75 per crate. Cucumbers are plentiful and bringing $.1 per lug bush on fair stock. Both these cucumbers are very cheap and are of the large appearance. They sell around 50 cents, some going as high as 65 cents per dozen, but these are exceptional sizes.

The local egg market was firm on additions of an advance to 23 cents in San Francisco, where one have been selling at 22 1/2 cents for more than a week. Receipts were only 495 cases. They are already beginning to show a disinclination. Butter was firm and on sale at 25 cents remained at that figure. The call for butter of creamery extra grade was good. Receipts were 75040 pounds.

Cheese receipts were 3780 pounds. Prices were not higher, not by any chance on local or eastern stock. Arrivals of Oregon cheese totaled about 15,000 pounds. The potato market remained unchanged. Receipts from the north were 945 sacks.

Only thirty-five sacks of onion were reported in recent arrivals were 206 sacks. Sweet potato arrivals totaled 17 sacks. Apple receipts were 620 boxes. A few Pearmains and Winesaps are coming from the north.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The city is to adopt a new policy whereby all departments will be charged for every drop of water they use. A controversy has developed between the water department and the Board of Public Works as to which shall pay the cost of removing and relocating water mains in the way of the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain.

The City Council yesterday reduced the rates for the Hollywood Union Water Company from $1.40 to $1.25 for the first 800 cubic feet and from 1 1/4 cents to 10 cents for each additional 100 cubic feet.

The Harbor Committee recommended yesterday that wharf license fees be reduced from 10 per cent. to 3 per cent. of the gross receipts.

Boston heirs claiming heirship are contesting the will of Peter P. Tomney, a miner, who left his $25,000 estate to the woman who had been good to him. Unsoundness of mind and undue influence in the execution of the will are set up.

An aged woman felt grateful yesterday when by judgment of the court in the suit of a wealthy young woman against a lawyer, her little home was saved from foreclosure. Judgment was given in favor of the lawyer.

At the City Hall.

MUST PAY FOR WATER USED.

EACH CITY DEPARTMENT WILL HAVE TO "FUNGLE UP."

More Than Quarter Million Dollars Will Be Added to Income of Public Service Commission, but It Will Come from Other Municipal Appropriations.

A new policy is to be adopted by the municipal government with the beginning of the next fiscal year. Every city department will have to pay the water department hereafter for every drop of water used. Parks and playgrounds will be the most heavily struck by this new demand, although it will make inroads on several other departments. More than a quarter of a million dollars will be added to the income of the public service commission, through this source—but it will come out of appropriations made for the other sections of the city government.

The water item for the parks will be the largest item. This will be in excess of $21,000. The playgrounds will come next, with an item of about $20,000. What the demands of the water department will be is problematical, and the other items will range down to the amount that is consumed by the average water user, but all must pay for the water they use.

This innovation was asked for last year, but the Budget Committee did not deem it wise to make this new policy into effect at that time.

This year insistence upon the new method being applied came from the City Auditor's office and the Public Service Commission, and the Budget Committee has been allowing appropriations in all departments to meet the added expense.

"It is simply a matter of proper book-keeping that our office insists upon," said Assistant City Auditor Fountain yesterday. "There is no logical reason why the water department should be required to carry a portion of the expenses of the other municipal departments. Charges for materials furnished by one department to another should be made, whether it is for store supplies or water. This is the only logical method to pursue."

Hinging upon the adoption of this policy, a situation has developed in municipal affairs wherein the Board of Public Works and the Public Service Commission are placed in more or less strained relations. The end may not be reached before the two are called upon to decide the point at issue.

The Board of Public Works holds that when the Public Service Commission undertakes to charge all other city departments for water service it places itself on the same basis as the public utility concern, and is therefore subject to the same consideration from other bodies.

Right now the controversy is over the removal and relocation of 1522 feet of six-inch water main in Tenth street, between Normandie avenue and Catalina street. This pipe must be moved to make way for the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain, now under construction. The storm drain contractor will be ready within a few days to enter Tenth street, but the water department has failed to make any move to move the pipe, although notified to do so by the Board of Public Works. The cost of this removal and relocation is estimated at $250.

The water department wants the Public Works Board to supply the water and paid for from that source. Each side, it appears, is determined in its attitude.

RATE REDUCED.

UNION HOLLYWOOD WATER.

The City Council yesterday cut the rates of the Union Hollywood Water Company, fixed by the Board of Public Utilities, from $1.40 for the first 800 cubic feet to $1.25, and from 1 1/4 cents for each additional 100 cubic feet to 10 cents. Proportional reductions were made in the rates for irrigation and sewer flushing. It is estimated this will effect a saving to consumers of approximately $25,000, and will reach $412 patrons.

This reduction was based on the elimination of various items charged against expenses which the City Auditor ruled should not be considered in rate-fixing. One of these was $12,000 for services, and another was $12,232.88 for paying over mains.

During the hearing on rates, which consumed two days, it was stated by counsel for the water company that a reduction in rates might be followed by litigation on the part of the company, but President Hoyler of the Union Hollywood Water Company said yesterday that he was not decided as to what attitude he would take. As negotiations are now pending between the city and the water company for the municipal purchase of the plant, it is probable the company will not contest the rates set by the Council.

CHARITIES MAY BAND.

The City Council has been notified by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county that it has appointed a committee to consider and recommend plans for the consolidation of city and county charity organizations in the interests of general efficiency and economy.

WHARF LICENSES.

FEES WILL BE REDUCED.

A radical reduction in fees on wharf licenses will be recommended by the Harbor Committee of the City Council for the next fiscal year. The rates at present are 10 per cent. of the gross receipts. The new rates to be recommended will be 3 per cent. of the gross income.

This plan was adopted by the Harbor Committee yesterday, after a public hearing on rates, at which the operators of wharves at the Los Angeles harbor made strong protests against the rates previously proposed by the Harbor Commission. Those protesting represented the Crescent Wharf and Storage Company, the Southern California Lumber Company, the Consolidated Lumber Company, the Hammond Lumber Company, the Pacific Wharf and Storage Company, and the Salt Lake Railroad.

The Harbor Committee will present its recommendation to the City Council next Monday, at which time the subject will be given a further hearing.

NOT ALL HARMONY.

ON MOVIE CENSOR BOARD.

Members of the Board of Censors of Moving Pictures took the occasion of their appearance before the Budget Committee of the City Council yesterday to exhibit lack of harmony. The board asks for an appropriation of $1282 for the next fiscal year, out of two of its members declared that the secret was $100 a year and hire a clerk to do the work. They asked for $480 for salary of a porter to run around and gather in films to be passed upon, but one of the members showed that the ordinance requires the film companies to send the films in. Then it was declared that a considerable percentage of films never reaches the board, but are exhibited notwithstanding.

The board is generally without authority, and the Budget Committee recommended that, since said ordinance to the ordinance giving it adequate powers or that it might as well cease to exist. A readjustment of labor so as to secure more harmony is likely to take place.

Japanese Cruisers Coming.

The Mayor received yesterday a letter from Y. Numan, Japanese Consul-General at San Francisco, stating that the Japanese training ship, consisting of the armored cruisers Asama and Azuma, under command of Rear-Admiral Togo, are scheduled to reach this port on about Sunday, and will remain in these waters for about a week.

"During this time the officers and cadets will double visit Los Angeles, both to see your beautiful city and pay the respects to you," says the Japanese Consul-General.

WILLING TO CO-OPERATE.

The City officials are anxious to secure the placing of public utility conduits in Sunset boulevard, from Marion street to the Plaza, before the street is paved to the City Hall.

Faving Company yesterday notified the Board of Public Works that it is willing to co-operate with the city and the public utility concerns to this end. The company declares that the large extent of storm drains to be constructed in this improvement under its contract, can be done simultaneously with the work of the utility companies and before the laying of base and surface is commenced, but as it has only 120 days within which to complete the entire work, it desires that the conduit laying be limited to less than sixty days.

CALLS FOURTH ELECTION.

The City Council yesterday set June 27 as the date for the fourth election in the territory southeast of the city on the question of annexing to Los Angeles.

At the Courthouse.

WOMAN OPPOSES ATTACK ON WILL.

RELATIVES SAY RICH ANGELENO WAS NOT COMPETENT.

Friend Who Took Care of Him Busy Defending Bequest Annull by Boston Heirs—Spite Work and Undue Influence Charged by Parties to Legal Battle.

Mrs. Catherine Gillespie, who was bequeathed a fortune of approximately $25,000 by her old friend, Peter P. Tomney, is opposing the efforts of Margaret Murrah and Nicholas McMillen of Boston, second cousins of Tomney, to break the will on the ground that Tomney was of unsound mind. The argument yesterday was directed to proving heirship.

The legal battle came on before Judge Rives yesterday with an array of lawyers representing the contestants and the executor, M. J. McGarry. They include Massey & Crawford, C. Mortimer White and Dolphin M. Delmas, for the second cousins, and J. Wiseman Macdonald for McGarry.

Tomney in early life was a miner. He came from County King, Ireland, and amassed his fortune in this city. Mrs. Gillespie took care of the old man after he had built an addition to her home. In making his will he remembered her care of him, but neglected to make provision for the cousins.

The cousins allege that Mrs. Gillespie influenced him in leaving her property. She denies and counters by setting up that the cousins were "eggheads" to a contest by a former friend who took offense because of a little circumstance.

Tomney gave $250 to Southern California Lumber Co. 27 1/2 A. M. and $500 to the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum.

LAWYER VINDICATED.

WOMAN'S HOME SAVED.

"I am vindicated," exclaimed Attorney Edward G. Kuster yesterday, coincidentally Marrieco Brown, an aged woman, gave thanks.

The reason of her joy was that under a judgment given by Judge Kuster, Kuster was purged of disobeying the instructions of Mrs. Marie Fleming Everett Brown in pushing the foreclosure of a mortgage on the little home of Marrieco Brown at No. 1810 West Eleventh street, and the woman had saved her home.

Mrs. Estes, young and worth a million, found the mortgage among the effects of her former husband, Henry George Brown, known familiarly in this city as "Brownie." Kuster, whom she retained, investigated and learned that Marrieco Brown had been almost a mother to "Brownie" since his birth. When she could not meet the mortgage on her home, Brown arranged to take care of it.

She deeded the property to him, and he gave his name secured by the mortgage. His trustees advanced him the funds to pay off the note, but the mortgage became an asset of Brown's estate, and the trustees failed to cancel it.

Mrs. Brown married Estes not long after "Brownie's" death and endeavoring to realize on the mortgage. She is the daughter of wealthy Philadelphia parents; her grandmother Everett was a well-to-do resident of St. Louis. From her father and her grandmother she received large estates which he gave to her in his will of $200,000.

NULLITIES JUDGMENT.

The National Vending Company, that has among its incorporators some of the most prominent business men of this city, and the head of O. F. Foss as defendant yesterday when Judge Hewitt gave judgment in its favor for approximately $250,000.

The judgment is an effect to the judgment in a similar amount obtained by Foss against the corporation in Chicago, in which he alleged violation of contract. It appears that he had a contract in which he agreed to take the product of the concern and handle it as sales agent.

He opened an office at Chicago, and it is charged that he made a machine of his own, returning to the corporation had defaulted in its performance.

Foss resides at Chicago, and one day he happened to be in this city. He was retained by the corporation in the suit prepared by Attorney W. A. Alderson, which Judge Hewitt subsequently tried and in which he was charged with violating his contract.

MUST COURT WIFE.

JUDGE ORDERED LOVE TEST.

Can Lee Stanchfield, former Marshal at Redondo Beach, come back? He has been set the task by Judge Jackson, who is presiding in the word that he would try it. It is not a word of endurance, but rather one calling for the gentle art of making love.

Stanchfield has been separated from his spouse and the cause of the separation is the subject of a love test. He provided court yesterday was his lack of providing for the family. He admitted that he had been drinking and was on one way to the hospital.

"Now, I want you to call on your wife," advised the court. "That is not a hard task, is it? You are a man and have a friendly chat, just like you used to do before you married her, and if you can get together for the sake of the children, I will let you go."

Meantime, Stanchfield was ordered to pay $50 a month for the support of the children, and to return to court in two months for the court to decide whether or not he has come back.

WIDOW BREAKS WILL.

HUSBAND'S MIND UNFOUNDED.

The late Dr. James Nelson Martin was declared of unsound mind at the street in a public hearing yesterday, by a jury in Judge House's court yesterday. Under the judgment of the court, the late Dr. Martin will come in for her share of the $25,000 estate, the major portion of which Dr. Martin had bequeathed to relative friends.

The estate of Dr. Martin, who died in 1908, was given to Gertrude B. Beck of New Zealand, a niece. The estate was valued at $100,000 under the will. She was the principal contestant, alleging that her husband was of unsound mind. In substantiation of this, letters and postcards were produced. On a tour of the world Dr. Martin mailed 6000 postcards to his wife, and his wife seventeen from one place.

Attorney Crier, representing Mrs. Martin, charged the postcards correspondence to and from court in a large suit case.

COURT PARAGRAPHS.

PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

UPHOLDS REFEREE'S. The referees who awarded the Pacific Electric 11 damages for the taking of its property by the city, and the city's damages for the land taken by the city in condemnation proceedings for the widening of Sunset boulevard from Marion street to the Plaza, were upheld by the Supreme Court yesterday.

The court held under Supreme Court decisions that the corporation was entitled to a national value by reason of the land being condemned, subject to the corporation operating its line on the boulevard. Judge Finlayson awarded the Pacific Electric $1655 damages for the city taking parts of two lots on Sunset boulevard.

JUDGE TAKES DEPOSITION. Due to unusual circumstances, a Superior Court judge yesterday took a deposition. The honor fell to Presiding Judge Wood, and it was considered rare enough to cause comment. The deposition taken was that of Kate G. Vorse of No. 243 1/2 Third street, Santa Monica, who is the sister of Mrs. J. Vorse and was required in the suit of the National Bank of the Republic of Salt Lake City, that the judge should take a deposition of Mrs. Vorse.

In 1907-22, in supplemental proceedings it was ascertained that the property stood in the name of his wife. The deposition showed, it is said, that Mrs. Vorse had assigned the property to

For displaying a sign reading "98c" on a number of suit cases, the owner of his store, No. 112 South Spring street, David Silverstein was yesterday found guilty by a jury in Police Judge Chambers' court of violation of the State advertising laws. Silverstein was arrested Wednesday last in Sunset boulevard by police officers who altered the sign to fit the requirements of the law.

The prosecution is the first in many months for alleged "false" advertising. The courtroom was crowded with dealers from the South Spring street vicinity.

The advertisement was displayed on five suit cases Wednesday morning when Silverstein was ordered by officers of the City Prosecutor's office to alter it. Some of the cases were valued by Silverstein at $5. But one was offered for $8 cents. When the officers returned they found that the sign had been altered by small lettering at the top that read "This one only." He was again ordered to put a sign on each case, but refused.

According to the testimony of the officers, a battle was narrowly averted when Silverstein related arrest. Silverstein will appear before Judge Williams at 2 o'clock this afternoon for sentence.

ALL ABOUT FEET. The trial of Frank Rhodes, charged with burglary, is being heard by Superior Judge Craig. Attorneys Frank Dominguez and Earl Rhodes appeared yesterday for the defense, and Deputy District Attorney Blair for the state. Rhodes is accused of entering the house of John Harlan on January 19 and of helping Harlan to a watch and several pieces of jewelry. After securing a jury the day was spent in argument over the peculiar footprints of the burglar.
